

Mom Drinking Wine

THE DRINKING GAME FOR MOMS WHO NEED AN EXCUSE

(1) Gather a bunch friends with children. (2) Grab one, two, or maybe three bottles of your favorite vino. (3) Take a brief moment to reflect fondly, maybe with rosé-colored glasses, on your joyous days of mothering toddlers. (4) Elect one person to read the scenarios aloud.

Take a sip of wine if...

1. Your child woke you up at 5 am this morning.
2. Your child has caught you in the act of throwing away their daily art projects.
3. You've stepped on a teeny tiny sharp toy left on the ground within the last 48 hours.
4. Your child has allowed his classmate to do an art project on the back of his shirt.
5. A local establishment has offered your child free candy or a sticker directly, without checking with you first. (Take another if exerting your authority caused a tantrum.)
6. The daycare called telling you your child a high fever, you rushed over to get him, asked them to take his temperature again it read normally.
7. Your child won't let you comb her hair.
8. Your child used an entire roll of toilet paper for one bathroom visit.
9. Your child totally forgot to wipe after using the bathroom.
10. Your child cried after hitting YOU.
11. Your child has cried AFTER giving her EXACTLY what she asked for.
12. Your children have ever turned their bedroom into a nightclub, flickering the lights off and on after being put to bed.
13. Your child cried because you won't read him read the 10th bedtime story for the evening.
14. Being the "cool mom" backfired because you let your kids play in the puddles outside, but you forgot their shoes light up, and now they don't.
15. Your child has ever taken off the clothes you just put on her because she wanted to dress herself.
16. Your child refused to wear the outfit you picked out for her and then refused to choose another option.
17. Your child has refused to brush his teeth because he just wanted to eat the toothpaste.
18. Your kid flushed the toilet, you have no idea what was flushed, and the flusher couldn't tell you.
19. Your child stuck something up his nose requiring an emergency room visit.
20. Your child colored on the walls of a house you that you don't own.
21. Your daycare has taken pictures of your children in holiday garb in an elaborate ruse to get you to buy the pictures after you see how cute they are.
22. Your child has thrown a tantrum for no apparent reason.
23. You've ever been in a hurry to get somewhere, and your child refused to get in the car.
24. Your child has ever refused to eat the dinner your prepared but wants snacks 15 minutes later.
25. Your child has ever refused to eat the exact thing he requested you to make him for dinner.

Please drink responsibly. Visit POSHINPROGRESS.COM.